GRAMMAR & BASICS

Prepositions & Conditionals

on in away from into down through in front of behind along past across up out of to/ towards onto off not far from far from at, by, beside, next to near across from opposite between turn right
(a)round the corner under over among in the middle of turn left on the right above below straight ahead on the left (a)round against

Prepositions

Are used to express:

1. Time: in, on, at, after, before etc.
2. Position: in, on, at, behind, in front of etc.
3. Movement: into, out of, off, across, from etc.
4. Other relations: by, about etc.

Exercise:
Using the right preposition: identify if the prepositions are correct or wrong. If wrong, correct them.

1. She is engaged with David
2. She entered into the room.
3. He is intelligent, but he lacks of experience.
4. Except coats or sweaters, you are not allowed to wear outer clothing.
5. On October, we went for a skiing vacation in Switzerland
6. Every summer I fly to Brazil and sit in the beach.
7. He decided to protest over the depiction of violence towards animals.
8. He told to me that he liked it.
9. Jane was in the wedding.

Using the right preposition: the answers

1. She is engaged to David
2. She entered the room.
3. He is intelligent, but he lacks experience.
4. Except for coats or sweaters, you are not allowed to wear outer clothing.
5. In October, we went for a skiing vacation in Switzerland
6. Every summer I fly to Brazil and sit on/at the beach.
7. He decided to protest against the depiction of violence towards animals.
8. He told me that he liked it.
9. Jane was at the wedding.

Prepositions

- Can be confusing for Dutch learners as they are not always the same in translation
  - He is in the garden → hij is in de tuin
  - He will be there in 5 minutes → hij is er over 5 minuten

- Study the lists in the book and look for parallels
  - If it's in September, it's also in October
  - If it's at lunch, it's also at dinner

- Other ways to learn them
  - Dictionary
  - Read a lot
  - Learn often used phrases by heart

Confusing cases - 1

- Some prepositions that look alike or translate to the same Dutch word are discussed on the following slides

- After that some common mistakes based on ‘false friends’

(= words that look alike in two different languages but don’t mean the same) are discussed

Confusing cases – II

Write a sentence (in pairs or threes) with both and explain the difference between them.

During or for?

- For = how long
  - He worked here for 2 months.
- During = when
  - We met some nice people during our holiday.

- Compare:
  - I fell asleep during the movie. I slept for half an hour.

- Note: while is not a preposition, but a linking word, so it's followed by a clause/sentence (with subject and verb)
  - We met some nice people while we were on holiday.

Confusing cases – III

Write a sentence (in pairs or threes) with both and explain the difference between them.

- In or into?
- In = position
  - I'm in the bathroom.
- Into = movement
  - He walked into the bathroom.

- The opposite of into is out of
  - I told him to get out of the bathroom.

Confusing cases – IV

- Write a sentence (in pairs or threes) with both and explain the difference between them.
- To or till?
- To = movement
  - We drove to Paris, but then we had to take a rest.
- Till = time
  - My wife drove till 7.00, and then I took over.

- Note: 'too' with two o's is not a prepostion, and can mean:
  - 'also': I saw him too.
  - Dutch 'te': He drank too much.

Confusing cases - V

Off or of?

Off is the opposite of on

He switched the computer off and on again.

The book was on the table, but then it fell off.

Of is used in all other cases (usually translates to Dutch 'van')

He is the head of our department

She cried tears of happiness.

Confusing cases – VI

- Before, in front of or for?
- Before = time
  - Shall we meet before 7:00?
- In front of = position
  - Ok, I'll be waiting in front of the restaurant.
- For = other
  - I will bring something special for you.

Confusing cases – VII

- As or like?

- As refers to a job or function
  - He works as a clown at children's parties.

- Like is used to talk about things being similar
  - He acted like a clown in class today.

Confusing cases – VIII

- In time or on time?
- In time means 'early enough'
  - I was in time for the announcement of the winner.

- On time means 'at the right time' or 'on schedule'
  - The show started right on time.

Common mistakes by Dutch people - 1

Which is correct? Explain the difference to highlight the error

- I'm not good in English
- I'm not good at English

- I'm still at school
- I'm still in school
- I'm still on school

- I was sitting at the computer
- I was sitting behind the computer.

Common mistakes by Dutch people - 1

Which is correct? Explain the difference to highlight the error

- I'm not good in English
- I'm not good at English

- I'm still at school
- I'm still in school
- I'm still on school

- I was sitting at the computer
- I was sitting behind the computer.

Common mistakes by Dutch people - II

- I go to school with the train.
- I go to school by train.

- He has worked here since two months
- He has worked here for two months

- I am at the baker's.
- I am by the baker's.

Common mistakes by Dutch people - II

- I go to school with the train.
- I go to school by train.

- He has worked here since two months
- He has worked here for two months

- I am at the baker's.
- I am by the baker's.

Grammar & Basics

If-Conditionals

Talking about conditions

There are three main types, which are used to express different things.

In pairs, discuss your intuitive understanding of how they differ.

1. If we buy a dishwasher, we will save time
2. If I won a million dollars, I would quit my job
3. If she had taken a taxi, she would have arrived there in time

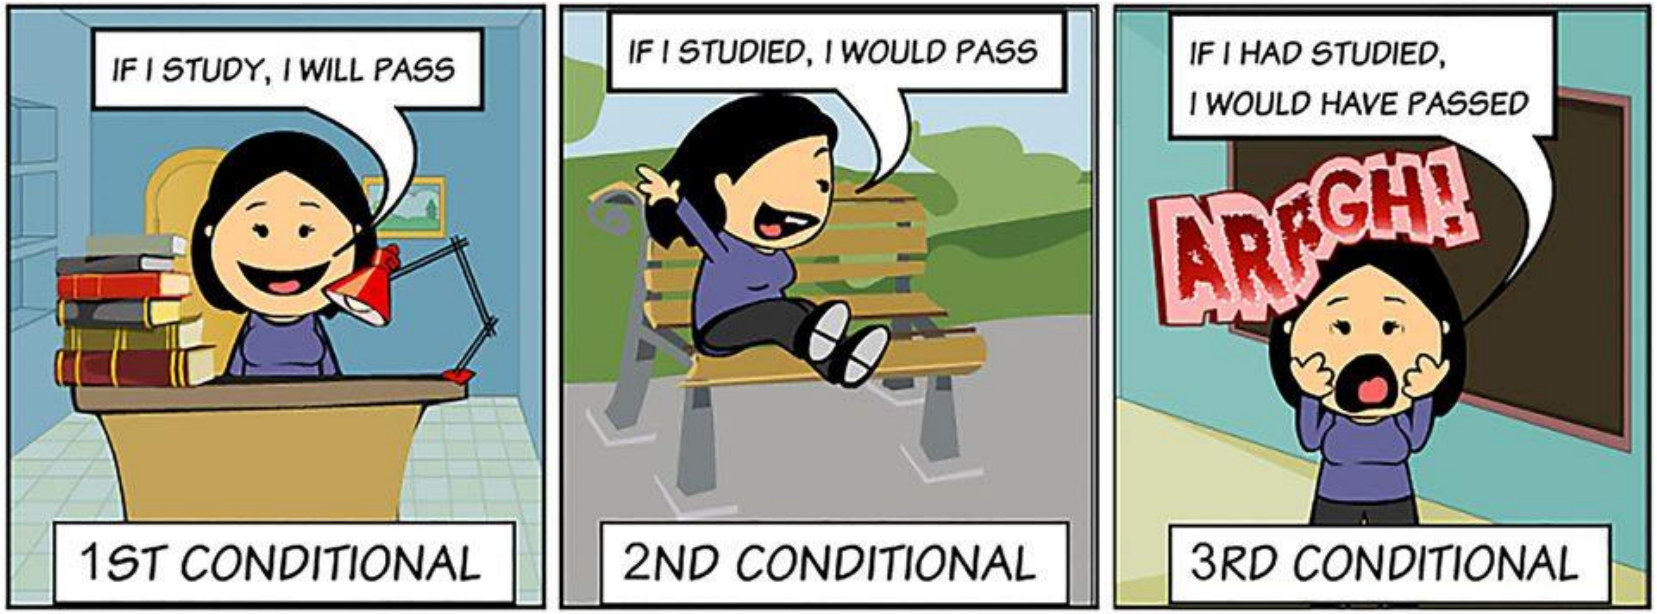
If-Conditionals

In English you often talk about the outcome of certain conditions in sentences with ‘if…’



Type 1

"If we buy a dishwasher, we will save time"

Present form (buy) in the if-part

This means that it is likely that we will buy a dishwasher

The result in the other part is also likely to happen

That's indicated by will + verb (will save) in the other part

Type 2

- “If I won a million dollars, I would quit my job”
- Past form (won) in the if part
- This means that it is unlikely that I would win a million dollars
- The result in the other part is also unlikely to happen
- That’s indicated by would + verb (would quit) in the other part

Type 2

- Also used for things that are impossible to happen
  - If I ruled the world, we would have 4 day-weekends

- If you use it in this way you always use were as the past form of (to) be (not was)
  - If I were a wizard, I would go to Hogwarts.

Type 1 and 2 compared

1. If he works hard he will pass his exam
   - In the first example you are talking about an active student who is likely to work hard (and therefore pass the exam)

2. If he worked hard he would pass his exam
   - In the second example you are talking about a student who is unlikely to work hard for whatever reason (and therefore unlikely to pass his exam)

Type 3

- “If she had taken a taxi, she would have been there in time.”

- The past form with had (had taken) in the if part

- This indicates you are talking about the past, so she can’t take a taxi anymore
- You can speculate about what if she had
- This is indicated by would have + verb + ed (for irregular verbs, 3rd column)

Type 1, 2 and 3 compared

1. If you give me money, you will get a higher mark.
2. If you gave me money, you would get a higher mark.
3. If you had given me money, you would have got a higher mark.

Type 1

- If you give me money, you will get a higher mark.
- This indicates that you're likely to give me money and as a result get a higher mark.

Type 2

- If you gave me money, you would get a higher mark.
- This indicates that you’re unlikely to give me money (and as a result I’m unlikely to give you a higher mark)

- If you had given me money, you would have received a higher mark.

Type 3

- This indicates that the exam results are already processed, so the moment to give me money is already over.

Giving teachers money

- Unfortunately for you none of this is true, because
  - If I were in it for the money, I wouldn't be a teacher.

Do not use ‘will’ or ‘would’ in the if-part

1. ~~If it will rain, I will bring an umbrella~~
   If it rains, I will bring an umbrella
2. ~~If he would clean up, he wouldn’t lose his stuff.~~
   If he cleaned up, he wouldn’t lose his stuff.

1. ~~If he would have called, I would have come to the right place~~
   If he had called, I would have come to the right place

The order of the parts can be changed

- If it rains, I will bring an umbrella →
  I will bring an umbrella if it rains.

- He wouldn’t lose his stuff if he cleaned up. →
  If he cleaned up, he wouldn’t lose his stuff.

- I would have come to the right place if he had called me →
  If he had called, I would have come to the right place

Exercise: Correct the incorrect conditional

1. If knew she was ill, I would have sent her some flowers.
2. If my flat has a balcony, I would grow plans in pots on them.
3. Where will you like to live if you could choose?
4. I can’t see Mary. If she is taller, I could see her.
5. If I played better, the team would have won the match.
6. If I catch the train at one, I would arrive in time
7. I would buy organic food if it is cheaper. At the moment it is too expensive.
8. She wouldn’t have gone to University if she didn’t work hard at school.
9. If you had lived two hundred years ago, what would you do?

Exercise: answers

1. If I had known she was ill, I would have sent her some flowers.
2. If my flat had a balcony, I would grow plans in pots on them.
3. Where would you like to live if you could choose?
4. I can’t see Mary. If she were taller, I could see her.
5. If I had played better, the team would have won the match.
6. If I catch the train at one, I will arrive in time
7. I would buy organic food if it was cheaper. At the moment it is too expensive.
8. She wouldn’t have gone to University if she hadn’t worked hard at school.
9. If you had lived tow hundred years ago, what would you have done?

Exercise: Finish the conditional

1. If it is sunny tomorrow _____
2. If you sit in the sun too long _____
3. If I were you _____
4. If I were the Prime Minister _____
5. If she had studied harder _____
6. If I won the lottery _____
7. If I hadn’t gone to bed so late _____
8. If I hadn’t come to London _____
9. If you mix water and electricity _____
10. If she hadn’t stayed at home _____

Finish the conditional (example)

1. If it is sunny tomorrow, we'll go to the park.
2. If you sit in the sun too long , you get burned.
3. If I were you, I would go out tonight.
4. If I were the Prime Minister, I would make the museums free.
5. If she had studied harder, she would have passed the exam.
6. If I won the lottery, I would buy a big house.
7. If I hadn’t gone to bed so late, I wouldn't have been tired.
8. If I hadn’t come to London, I would have gone to New York.
9. If you mix water and electricity, you get a shock.
10. If she hadn’t stayed at home, she would have gone shopping